

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 26.—Four of the tariff commissioners, Messrs. Hayes, Porter, Garland and Oliver, arrived here last night from Savannah, and Mr. Porter, this morning, from New York. They had a session to-day in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. After some remarks from Mr. Hayes as to the object of the commission, a short address was made by S. Y. Tupper, president of the Chamber of Commerce. He was aware of the fact that the country must have tariff for revenue. There was no such thing as free trade in an absurdity, misnomer, and deception. He voted to express the sentiments of the chamber and of the commercial community of Charleston by saying that, while they were in favor of tariff for revenue, they desired the protection of American industries to that extent. The shipping interests of the country should also be protected, even by reasonable subsidies to ship-builders and to ship-owners. What was wanted in South Carolina was not a tariff, but a tariff that would protect the agricultural and manufacturing interests. Rice culture was a very important industry in South Carolina. The bulk of the farmers along the sea-board derived their support from rice culture. It gave support to 60,000 operatives in the field—nearly all of whom were colored.

Mr. Tupper had no specific recommendation to make as to the tariff.

Richard D. Jervoy, commission merchant, made an argument in favor of the maintenance of the duty on rice. He did not desire any increase, but thought that an assurance of the stability of the present rate would increase the area planted in rice. As a merchant he expressed the opinion that the consumer would be benefited by a reduction of the duty.

L. Trenholm, merchant, expressed views similar to those of Mr. Jervoy. He said he was a free trader, but so long as the present policy of protection followed, he favored the present duty on rice. J. B. Bisset, rice planter, expressed views similar to those of Jervoy.

Richard Willis made a statement as to the prospects of rice in South Carolina, but declared himself satisfied with the present duties.

A. R. Ross, president of the Agricultural Society of South Carolina, said that the farmers of that State would be glad to have the agricultural implements and cotton seed supplied free of duty. He had recently purchased a narrow-gauge locomotive which he might have obtained at about fifty per cent. cheaper but for import duty.

Mr. Oliver—Suppose that the manufacturers of locomotives should make that same statement as to rice?

Mr. Ross—I suppose they would be right in saying so.

M. Paulitzer made an argument in favor of the reduction of duties on salt.

W. S. Hattie, stock broker, declared that the people of South Carolina did not desire any changes in the tariff. This is the first time in tariff history that cotton factors were called upon to make a statement as to the tariff.

Triangular Republican Fight.

CHARLESTON, S. C., September 27.—In the Republican convention of the 7th district, after a bitter struggle, which has lasted just one week, E. W. Mackey, white, was to-day nominated for Congress on the 25th ballot, receiving 21 out of the 39 votes. A stormy scene ensued, Mackey's colored competitors, Lee and Snalls, charging him with having secured the nomination by bribery. Lee displayed as evidence a promissory note for $250 given by Mackey to a delegate for his vote.

It is understood there will be no Democratic candidate in the district, and Lee and Snalls are expected to run against Mackey, making a triangular Republican fight.

Capt. Rule at Coal Creek.

Houk Plays a Trick, but Loses Votes by It.
MA. EDITION: According to appointment, Capt. Rule, the Republican candidate for Congress, spoke here this evening to an audience composed of the best citizens of the place, and for one hour was listened to with that marked attention and dignity that characterizes an audience of intelligent, thinking, good men, wherever assembled. If the speaking here is a correct index to the campaign waged by our standard bearer in other parts of this Congressional district, we can see nothing but one of the most dignified campaigns that has ever been conducted in our midst, upon the part of one man, and one that is sure to score a victory for him in November.

As some of your readers are aware, Judge Houk's appointment fell on the same date at this place. Prior to the arrival of the two candidates, the Republican cause had been secured for Mr. Rule's use, with the distinct understanding that Judge Houk could meet him there in joint discussion if he wished; if not then Mr. Rule was to have the exclusive right to the chair.

Houk came down from Jackboro in time to catch his whip, and suggested to the crowd that he could play a very nice trick on Mr. Rule before his arrival on the train. True to the mandates of their chief, they proceeded to the church, put up their horses, and by their actions, proclaimed him "boss of the situation."

When Capt. Rule arrived, in company with a large number of his friends, some of Houk's friends were introduced as to whether he would be allowed a division of time, and the question was propounded to the judge himself. Houk positively refused to meet his competitor or allow him any division of time in a joint discussion, as a large majority of the people had hoped for, and Mr. Rule was anxious for. Mr. John Reed, of Camp Hill County, then announced that Mr. Rule would proceed to the depot, and there address the citizens who had come out to hear him. Rule's friends (quite a number of them at least), then withdrew, and Judge Houk, with his sub-bosses, his drunks, his satellites and male attendants, whom he had dragged up for the occasion, around Careyville and Jackboro, and a few of the good citizens of Coal Creek, together with a great deal of noise, to have their fun all to themselves. Some of Mr. Rule's friends were indignant, and said that we should have gone on into the church and had our speaking there. Others suggested that Houk's conduct would make him no votes, while others gave vent to their feelings in such expressions as this: "If I had been for Houk ever so strong, I would be against him now!" Houk has achieved very wisely if not to say cowardly; Houk's action to-night confirms my belief that none of the charges against him are true. He has shown himself to be a coward every occasion. I would not have thought that Houk! It is the meanest trick I ever knew him to be guilty of, and a great many other similar preparations for the Democratic ratification of the ticket nominated Syracuse. The letter urges that all local differences be laid aside.
